

Dr. Graham Plastow, University of Alberta – CEO; Head of Swine Operations

Graham is a Professor at the University of Alberta in the Department of Agricultural, Food and Nutritional Sciences and is the CEO of Livestock Gentec. Graham has led or participated in numerous international research collaborations and has served on boards/committees for groups such as Roslin Institute, Genesis Faraday Partnership, Biotechnology Research and Development Corporation, as well as CTO of Sygen International.

Dr. John Basarab, University of Alberta – Head of Beef Operations

John is a research scientist at the University of Alberta and Head of Beef Operations at Livestock Gentec. John has over 30 years experience in beef cattle production and management. His work includes the development of one of the largest genotype-phenotype databases for beef cattle in Canada, and for genetic marker discovery, global collaborations, and validation of genomic tools like EnVigour HXTM.

Clinton Brons, Contractor – Beef Industry Liaison

Clinton is the Beef Industry Liaison for Livestock Gentec aims of consensus, coalition building and collaboration. Clinton was also a past Regional Manager with Berlex/Bayar Canada and Regional Direction with Boehringer Ingelheim.

Jenny Patterson, University of Alberta – Swine Industry Liaison

Jenny is a research associate with the University of Alberta and the Swine Industry Liaison with Livestock Gentec. Jenny has extensive experience as a past Research Coordinator with the University of Alberta and currently works closely with Swine Industry clients conducting research focused on health resiliency.

Kira Hames, University of Alberta – Technology Transfer Lead

Kira is the Technology Translator Lead with Livestock Gentec. Kira has experience in both research and research extension as a past research assistant in dairy reproduction and health at the University of Alberta, as well as a communications consultant for Alberta Milk. Kira divides her time between Livestock Gentec and coordinating the annual Western Canadian Dairy Seminar.

Anna Szenthe, University of Alberta – Office Manager

Anna is an administrative assistant at the University of Alberta and Office Manager for Livestock Gentec. Anna has over 30 years of laboratory and research experience in microbiology and related sciences. She is also an administrative assistant to the Honorary Consulate of Northern Alberta to Hungary and President of the Hungarian Diaspora Council.